Currently, 50-75 drawings have been submitted. The first-place winner’s drawing will be on the cover of the commemorative booklet, second-, third- and fourth-place drawings will be expanded to poster-size and displayed at the First Baptist Church during the State Employees Martin Luther King, Jr. Observance Program. Budget Issues

Emily Williams, Executive Director of NCHRC. Director Williams shared her concerns that we utilize funding provided to address the mission on the Commission.

Commissioner Turner shared with the Commission his concern that more funding for grants are needed and that as a commission we should have a measuring tool in place to reflect the number of applicants that we were unable to fund, to show there is a need for funding and that there are organizations doing and instilling the values of Dr. Martin Luther King. Commissioner Turner stated by having this information it would allow us to build case for additional funding. Emily shared the State of North Carolina generates a Suspension of Funding List (SOFL) that includes grantees that have failed to regularly report progress in the State’s online grants reporting system. Chairman Henderson requested that Commissioner Turner chair the efforts leading the Commission in lobbying opportunities to speak with legislators. Commissioner Jeffers agreed to assist with the background information to assist with lobbying for additional funding.

Commissioner Kickler raised a question about the definition of meetings/quorum relative to communication among Commissioners, e.g., by email and telephone conversation. NCHRC’s Legal Counsel, Richard Boulden, stated that non-voting topics can be communicated through staff; however the Commission can set its own communication rules as long as they do not conflict with the Statute. However, when emails are sent to State of NC personnel, these emails constitute public records.

FY 2014 MLK Grant Program

Grants were reviewed by teams, scored and discussed. Commissioner Bailey recused herself from any discussion or conversation regarding Thomas Mentor Leadership Academy’s grant application, due to her volunteering serving as an advocate for this organization.

After scoring and discussion on the grants Commission Williams moved, and Commissioner Taylors seconded that the following be awarded to each organization:

1. Fayetteville/Cumberland County Ministerial Council- Requested $2500.00 awarded $2500.00

4. Young Women of Promise, Inc- Requested $2500.00; awarded $1000.00
Executive Director Emily Williams will draft letters of acceptance and letters of rejection for applicants.

Content of Character Model

Commission Jeffers identified a school-wide activity from the www.mlk.gov website that tasked students with dissecting a text of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. The text could be aired via dvd, or over the intercom, and aired at the same time over an entire school system. This activity would promote improvement in writing and communication skills.

Chairman Henderson recommended calling the initiative the Content of Character Movement. This initiative involved disseminating the meaning of Dr. King’s Content of Character speech across the State, providing schools with scripts, talking points on communication and mock trials.
